On 16 July, International AI Day, PMI is hosting four sessions built around where you actually are in the AI conversation, not where a keynote assumes you are.

- Making the AI Standard Real: Practical Guidance for Project Professionals — the first global standard for AI, and the guardrails it puts around responsible adoption.
- AI Literacy for Project Managers — the baseline knowledge to plan smarter and manage risk when AI is part of the project.
- From AI Pilots to Enterprise Impact: A Project Leader's Framework for Scaling Responsible AI — why most pilots stall, and what it actually takes to scale one.
- Project HEADWAY: How Not To Use AI (members only) — where AI still needs a human hand, and where it doesn't belong at all.

AI isn't replacing Project Professionals. It's changing what the job requires. These four sessions are how we make sure you're setting that direction, not reacting to it.
