President's Message | May 2026

As project professionals, we talk often about value—how we define it, how we deliver it, and how we measure it. This month, I want to focus on a different dimension of value: how organizations demonstrate their commitment to project management as a discipline and to the professionals who make outcomes possible.

One of the most visible and meaningful ways to do that is through corporate sponsorship.

Practical Uses of AI for Project Leadership:

Tools, Ethics, Governance, and Real-World Applications

PDUs : 1.0 | Ways of Working

Rather than positioning AI as a future-state capability, this discussion focuses on immediate, scalable opportunities to reclaim leadership capacity, improve delivery outcomes, and enable teams to focus on higher-value strategic work.

Attendees will leave with a practical understanding of where AI can drive near-term value within project delivery functions — and how to begin adoption responsibly within existing governance and technology constraints.

What's New at PMI

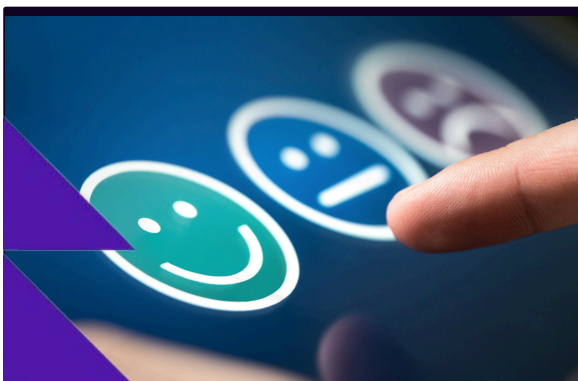

PMP Exam Changes

In July 2026, the PMP® Certification Exam evolves to reflect the realities of modern project leadership. The updated exam places greater weight on business environment and value delivery, introduces interactive question formats that test real-world judgment, and brings AI and sustainability into the conversation. With a 60/40 split favouring adaptive over predictive approaches, the new exam mirrors how today's most effective project managers actually work.
